CHER LLOYD

'She's had work done on her nose'

After a two-year hiatus from the showbiz scene, Cher Lloyd recently returned to make her musical comeback. But her looks overshadowed her return, with many fans speculating she'd had surgery to appear more like her former X Factor mentor Cheryl.

Three years ago, Cher, 23, said she wasn't tempted by surgery, saying: "There's a line in the song [her track I Wish] where I sing 'I wish I woke up with a butt and a rack' and I really, really do. But I won't go under the knife."

Twitter fans were shocked at Cher's transformation, with one writing: "Thought

Cher Lloyd was Cheryl Cole, was most impressed by her transformation especially her change of accent!" while another posted: "Cher Lloyd really does think she's Cheryl."

And surgeon Mark Ho-Asjoe believes Cher has had a nose job and Botox. He tells Closer: "Cher has had subtle work done to refine the shape of her face. Her nose looks much neater, which is a sign of having work done, and I'd say she's had a bit of trimming, where part of the nostrils are cut away to slim the shape. Also her wide-eyed look could be the result of Botox on her forehead."

FRANKIE

'Frankie's had fille

She's always stood out from her Saturdays bandmates with her cropped hair, but after the group began their ongoing break last year, Frankie Bridge - who has two sons, Parker, two, and 13-month-old Carter with footballer hubby Wayne - trialed a new look with longer locks.

But more recently, fans have speculated that she's also altered her face with the help of a surgeon, and Mark agrees.

He says: "Frankie's face is a little more tapered and a bit longer. Her cheeks are still very full so I think she may have had
